Use of Journals in Academic Research and Scholarly Publishing

Webinar Organised By Central Library, Lalbaba College

Date: June 26, 2020

Venue: Lalbaba College

Report of the event:

A webinar on "Use of Journals in Academic Research and Scholarly Publishing" was organized by the central library of Lalbaba College on 26th June, 2020. The topic was chosen to create an awareness among students and teachers on proper usage of journals in an academic environment. Different sources of journals (both printed and online) were highlighted in this programme to give a current awareness service to the users. Dr. Partha Sarathi Das, ALIO, National Library was the resource person who worked in the English Serial Division in the National Library. He delivered his lecture on different kinds of scholarly publishing, scope of printed and open accessed –journal and how to use them properly in academic research and scholarly publishing. The program was organized in online mode to combat the COVID-19 pandemic.

Programme Outcome: Users will learn about different types of journals, their sources and access and different parameters on publishing. They also learn about the N-LIST database and different e-journals available there.

Number of students registered = 111

Number of teachers registered = 190

Usage of Journals in Academic Research and Scholarly Publishing

Types of Journals

Letters journal : A scholarly periodical devoted to publishing short articles containing interim reports of research results, usually in a specific academic field, including negative and inconclusive results likely to be of interest to other researchers (example the Applied Physics Letters). Speedy review and publication processes are essential for this type of journal.

Methods journal A scholarly periodical devoted to disseminating information about the development of new techniques in scientific research and the refinement of existing methodologies (example: the biweekly Journal of Immunological Methods) multidisciplinary journal.

Synoptic journal: A journal that publishes brief reports of research findings and abstracts of articles for which the entire text is available on request, usually from a data bank or in a microform edition of the publication.

technical journal, and

Trade journal: A periodical devoted to disseminating news and information of interest to a specific category of business or industry, often published by a trade association. Some trade journals are available in an online version, as well as in print (example: Publishers Weekly).
